

Welcome to Madrid

In 1939, after travelling the world over to learn and perfect his trade, Linicio del Campo, Ex-Aprentice of the Swiss Watches Union, decided to open his own watch workshop in Madrid. Since then, this company has repaired and retailed watches and related articles.

The three generations of master watchmakers in the family testify to the technical knowledge offered here. That old watch you inherited from a family member, which hasn't worked for years, that cuckoo clock, that wall clock; all are considered "patients" at this watchmaker's, where they'll be tuned up to perfection. The technical service is mobile, for large clocks, and will return all items in excellent working order. Here, they treat watches as true works of art, deserving of the closest attention.
